2 Academy Award Winners Have Much in Common

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No one commented on it at the time but the success of any plan of action adopted by the three. Any action would be carried out through Milk Producers Local 69, a Teamsters affiliate. Tri-State obtained the local charter earlier this year.

Cartwright declined to comment on what action the new group might take. He said there had been heavy pressure for a strike but the policy thus far had been to seek voluntary recognition from milk dealers.

Farmers now get about $4.50 a hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for their milk. Cartwright said they were seeking $6 a hundredweight.

The three groups staged brief strikes in New York State in 1957. All failed for lack of support from the Teamsters and the big four dairy cooperatives in New York.

Friends of the actress often pass her on the 20th Century-Fox lot and fail to speak simply because they fail to recognize her. Of hundreds of photographs of her filed away in the publicity department, there are few that look alike.

It's more than hair-dos, Joanne believes. It's something inside her. The movies' great box-office draws always have been definite personalities both on and off screen.

"But," says Joanne, "because I'm never the same, I have hopes of becoming a box-office draw. If anybody is going to come to see me, it's because they expect me to be a different character than the last time."

"I'm not a personality so unless I'm a character, I'm nobody."

And that, she says, is why she went from the three different persons in "The Three Faces of Eve" to the Southern floozie in "No Down Payment" to the frustrated spinster in "The Long, Hot Summer" to the busby housewife in "Rally Around the Flag, Boys!"

In her next picture she will portray girl 11 years younger than her real age of 28.

In "Rally Around the Flag, Boys!" she plays opposite her real-life husband, Paul Newman. The part calls for her to wear a fluffy hair-do. She went straight from the hairdresser to the commissary to have lunch with Newman.

He came in, looked around for his wife but didn't spot her—although he looked straight at her several times. When she finally yelled at him, he took one look and could only say: "Shirley Temple, I'd know you anywhere."

Harlan Considers Bail for 5 Who Failed to Answer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice John M. Harlan of the U. S. Supreme Court is considering whether five participants in the Apalachin gangland meeting should be released on bail pending their appeal of contempt sentences.

The men are among seven jailed in New York City pending their answers to questions about the meeting put by the State Investigation Commission.

The five are Frank J. Valenti of Rochester, Rosario Mancuso of Utica, Joseph Riccobono of Staten Island, Paul Castellano of Brooklyn and Michael Miranda of New York City.

Their attorneys contend in separate petitions filed Wednesday that they were jailed early last month without due process of law.

Opposition briefs from New York State officials were received Saturday. All the papers were forwarded to Harlan at his summer home in New York State. There was no indication when he would act.

Two Were Jailed

Two other men, Costenzo Vassalli of Rochester, Frank's brother, and Carmine Lombardozzi of Brooklyn, were jailed Aug. 22, after the first five had filed their original appeal with state courts.

The seven were among 60 men picked up by state police at Joseph Barbara's Apalachin home last Nov. 14. All were released after questioning. No charges were placed.

Some police investigators believe the gathering was a meeting of the Mafia, Sicilian secret criminal society.

The seven refused to answer commission questions on the ground they might incriminate themselves. The panel offered them immunity from state prosecution. The men argued, however, that the commission could not give them immunity from federal prosecution.

Noted Pathologist Dies at Ray Brook

RAY BROOK, N. Y. (AP) — Funeral services were planned today for Dr. Adolph Hochwald, 51, a noted pathologist on the staff at Ray Brook State Hospital.

Dr. Hochwald died Sunday of a circulatory ailment.

He came to the United States from Czechoslovakia in 1941 and took a post as a graduate assistant at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Later he taught pathology at the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, at Western Reserve University and at the New York University medical school.

He joined the staff at Ray Brook, a tuberculosis hospital, four years ago. The funeral will be held in nearby Saranac Lake.

Third Death From Crash

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) — A two-car collision last Wednesday has claimed a third life.

Thomas Wynne, 32, of Springfield, Mass., died in a hospital Sunday. His son, Thomas Wynne, 2, and Thomas Evans, 50, a migrant farm worker of Orlando, Fla., died in the accident at the crest of a steep hill on Route 9G, a mile south of Hudson.

Five other persons were hospitalized with less serious injuries.

Three Drown When Sailboat Founders

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — Police have recovered the bodies of three persons who were drowned Sunday when their 23-foot sailboat foundered in a storm.

The victims were Capt. R. J. Hefferon, 34, of Detroit, Mich., his wife, Marjorie, 30, of Newburgh, N. Y., and Dr. Peter Fisher, 40, head of the English Department at the Royal Military College here. The bodies were recovered Monday.

Another woman in the boat, Nancy Mosier of Wolfe Island, swam to shore.

Hefferon had been assigned to Kingston from the Sands Proving Grounds at Albuquerque, N. M.

Fatally Injured

NICHOLSON, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Naomi Smulowitz, 44, of Binghamton, N. Y., was injured fatally Sunday night when an automobile struck a guard rail along Route 11. She was thrown to the pavement.

State Police said her husband, Seymour, 54, attempted to pass another automobile during a heavy rainstorm. He lost control of the car.

Enfranchisement Day

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Tomorrow will be Women's Enfranchisement Day in New York State.

Gov. Harriman noted in a proclamation Saturday that the day would be the 40th anniversary of the first time women voted on a statewide basis in New York.

The five are Frank J. Valenti of Rochester, Rosario Mancuso of Utica, Joseph Riccobono of Staten Island, Paul Castellano of Brooklyn and Michael Mirandra of New York City.

Their attorneys contend in separate petitions filed Wednesday that they were jailed early last month without due process of law.

Family of Four Killed When Car Is Hit by Train

OGDENSBURG, N. Y. (AP) — A family of four was wiped out Sunday when their car was struck by a train.

Killed were James G. Rogers, 27; his wife, Joan, 24, and their children, Deborah, 1½, and Michael, 3 months.

A New York Central passenger train hit the Rogers car at a private grade crossing near Ogdensburg. It was raining at the time.

Elliott S. Parker of Watertown, train conductor, was hospitalized with a concussion after a scuffle at the accident scene.

Witnesses said two relatives of the Rogers family attacked Parker with a club. The conductor was admitted to A. Barton Hepburn Hospital. He was reported in fair condition.

Returning From Reunion

The Rogers family was returning from a family reunion at a site a few hundred yards from the accident scene. They were driving to a camp at which they had been vacationing.

The train was en route to Watertown from Ogdensburg. Don Smith, New York Central agent at Ogdensburg, said it was going 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

The train carried the car 500 yards down the track before it stopped.

One-Lane Road

The crossing is on a one-lane road leading to the summer camp area, which is on the St. Lawrence River.

Rogers was a purchasing agent for Merritt Chapman & Scott, on a construction project for the St. Lawrence Seaway. The family had planned to leave the vacation camp and return to their Ogdensburg home over the weekend.

The train involved in the accident is the same that was in a train-car collision that took three lives at another crossing last month. The same engineer—M. R. Maine of Watertown—was at the controls.

It takes more than new wooden legs to make a small boy like Lee Jae Ku face life with courage. He was brought to a Korean Amputee center by a nurse who found him crawling on hands and knees searching for food, in the market. His shirt and trousers were tattered and caked with mud. His emaciated legs were retracted and could not be straightened. This was a boy who once had a home and was loved by parents now dead.

Faubus Has Trouble With Officials Over Statements

BY JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas still has trouble getting some people in high places to believe him. What he says one time isn't necessarily what he says the next.

In the past year he has, in effect been called a liar by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary.

And the U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis has derided his reasons for calling out the National Guard last year in the integration controversy at Little Rock Central High School.

Latest example of Faubus' troubles in the credibility department came Sunday when he said the White House had pressured him into saying the Supreme Court's order banning segregation in the public schools was the law of the land.

Last year—after he had called out guardsmen to keep Negroes from entering Central High School—Faubus flew to Newport, R.I., to confer with Eisenhower, who was vacationing there. They issued separate statements.

Faubus Statement

Part of Faubus' statement said: "I have never expressed any personal opinion regarding the Supreme Court decision of 1954 which voted integration. That is not relevant. That decision is the law of the land."

Since then Faubus has made statements saying the Supreme Court's decision is not the law of the land and that the Supreme Court has no authority to make a law.

Sunday he appeared on the CBS TV Show Face the Nation.

Reminded of the statement he issued in Rhode Island, he was asked why he has changed his mind about the high court's decision being the law of the land.

Faubus said he hadn't changed his mind; that his saying so didn't make the decision law. Then he added this:

He said he had been required by the White House to make that statement as the price of negotiating with the White House. He admitted it was unusual for a governor to let himself be pressured into something like this.

Monday Hagerty was asked about this Faubus statement. Hagerty said: "I think the only thing I can have is no comment. You wouldn't print my comment that I feel like giving."

Trouble Making Up Mind

But Faubus even seems to have trouble making up his mind on whether a law passed by Congress ordering integration would be a law that had to be obeyed.

He was asked on TV: "Would you accept a declaration or a law by Congress on this (integration of public schools)?"

Faubus replied: "Well, I think if Congress passed a law, then it would be the law of the land, and there would be no means of questioning its legality."

Just a few days ago he appeared to take an exactly opposite position. On Aug. 26, appearing before the Arkansas Legislature to ask authority to prevent public school integration, he said: "There is no clear-cut federal statute regarding the integration of schools. If there were it would be unconstitutional, for the authority to control public education has never been delegated by the states to the federal government."

Last year Faubus charged that FBI agents were tapping his telephone (he offered no proof) and that they were holding teen-agers incommunicado for hours in Little Rock. Hoover said both statements were false.

Also last year—after Eisenhower sent federal troops into Little Rock to make sure Negroes got into Central High—Faubus said the soldiers had invaded the privacy of girls' dressing rooms.

Hagerty answered for the White House: "Completely untrue and also completely vulgar."

Not Defying Court

Faubus has always argued that when he called out guardsmen to keep Negro children out of Central High—which a federal judge had ordered integrated—that he was not defying the court, but only trying to prevent mob violence.

The U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis lashed out at this by saying that if Negro children were kept out of school to prevent mob violence, then by the same kind of reasoning: "The banks could be closed and emptied of their cash to prevent robbers, the post office locked to prevent the mails from being robbed, and the citizens kept off the streets to prevent holdups."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 2, 1958

'SCHOOL'S OPEN' CAMPAIGN

The Automobile Club of New York's 13th annual "School's Open" traffic safety campaign has been opened officially here. The first of 250 safety posters to be displayed at major street intersections and school crossings will be displayed this week when schools reopen.

The auto club also has distributed reminders in the form of bumper strips to be displayed on motor vehicles.

Since 1945, the year before the auto club campaigns began, traffic fatalities among school children under 16 years of age have dropped 53 per cent during September and October, despite an increase of 69 per cent in the number of vehicle registrations and the steady growth of school population.

Surveys reveal that the most dangerous neighborhoods for pedestrians are not crowded business areas. They are the "quiet" residential areas, where 86 per cent of pedestrian injuries and deaths take place. Most schools and playgrounds are in residential areas.

Motorists are again asked to be extra alert as a child hurrying to school may forget to be cautious.

SOURCE OF PRESIDENTS

An overwhelming weight of precedent suggests that the 1960 candidates for president will be lawyers who have had political experience. The rare exceptions to this pattern have been military heroes, notably Grant and Eisenhower. Only in 1940 did a convention leave the beaten path and nominate a businessman.

The leading Republican candidates that year were Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York City, who was to be the nominee in 1944 and 1948. Surprisingly, the nomination went to Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth & Southern utility company. Willkie beat seasoned politicians despite his having been a Democrat as late as 1932. Also, though he had changed his party the record showed that he had voted for neither Coolidge nor Hoover, believed in the League of Nations, and opposed the protective tariff.

Old-line Republicans must have wondered what had happened to their party. They rallied to Willkie's support, however. Though he was defeated, he ran a good race. His attempt to get the nomination in 1944 failed, and he died before the end of the campaign that year.

Now no party seems to consider a businessman for the presidency. In view of the widespread admiration for business success, this is surprising. Yet the chances are excellent that, when the chips are down in 1960, not businessmen but men trained in law and politics will once again be the party choices.

Leaders in the 85th Congress rate its accomplishments among the greatest in congressional history. The people are likely to withhold judgment pending the arrival of their next tax bills.

TOWARD BETTER HEALTH

The United States and Russia agree on one vital matter, the necessity of improving the world's health. An epidemic is no respecter of international boundaries or of correct views on economics and politics. Nations at odds with one another on political and social problems need one another's help in the war against disease.

This justifies Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama in introducing a bill to mobilize the world's scientific resources in behalf of health improvement. The bill authorizes 50 million dollars to be spent annually by the Public Health Service and corresponding bodies abroad. It would also create a national advisory council of citizens to guide policy and make recommendations.

Of our much publicized expenditures for foreign aid, only one per cent goes for health. Last year, only 400 millions out of federal and private funds was spent on medical research. The need is greater than

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
OUR BRIGHT CHILDREN

Most parents believe that their children are more or less bright. In fact, many parents object to special schools for bright boys and girls because such schools show up their own little ones who are just average or if the truth must be told, even below that. Parents sometimes grow emotional about what they call "undemocratic schools" where they mark a dope F and give an A Plus to the capacious mind.

Professor A. Harry Passow of Teachers College, Columbia University, accuses me of having done him dirt on this subject when I recently quoted him from an Associated Press dispatch. He says that I needed a foil and used him. Why him? After reading the Associated Press dispatch, I made the point that the word democracy can have "nothing to do with education which is an unequal task, some children being able to take more of it than others."

It turns out that Dr. Passow is in charge of a research project intended to develop ways of identifying and educating children of exceptional talent. He has sent me a mass of literature which shows that his views, except for professional jargon, are about the same as mine, although he approaches the problem professionally as a teacher, while I observe it journalistically as one witnesses any phenomenon of the day.

The bright child requires little identification; his brightness asserts itself, as Abraham Lincoln's brightness or Thomas Edison's genius asserted itself. What the excited educators are seeking is not as much genius as it is a greater proficiency to meet the needs of this country for a larger number of trained and disciplined minds to do the work of the nation.

Professor Passow asks in his numerous studies of the problem: "Who is to be considered gifted?" Does that question really have to be answered? If a marking system is honest and universal, the gifted will assert themselves, although it has been known to be so that a student got poor marks and became famous in the field of his early failure. Perhaps no better example of that can be Winston Churchill.

In a competitive world, quality will emerge to the top, no matter what is done to keep a man down. The struggle may be hard and even ugly but it is worth the effort when success comes.

Professor Passow's reference to "democracy" as provided by the Associated Press is more correctly stated in a passage in an article entitled: "Are We Short-Changing the Gifted?" which appeared in the "School Executive":

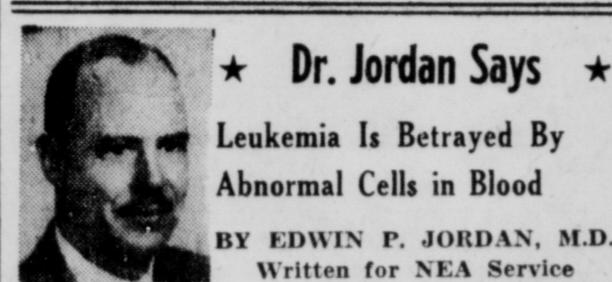

"Another set of obstacles to adequate provision for the gifted results from a misinterpretation of the democratic commitment of public education. The school is the agency which fills individual specialized needs of each child while meeting the social needs of democracy. This integrating function, however, is twisted by some schools into a reason for avoiding necessary special provisions for the gifted child...."

Let us stop there because I think that the phrase "while meeting the social needs of democracy" is what makes all the trouble. If we simplify the purpose of the school, we shall produce bright boys and girls and discard the dullards. A school is a place to which children are sent to learn what their parents and teachers believe that they should be taught. As long as we insist on adding to that simple function of the school, all the complexities of social consciousness, we shall always be in our present dilemma which is whether it is not socially more valuable to teach a great many people something than to expend time and money on teaching a few brilliant minds who will invent another kind of atom bomb and read Sanskrit poetry. Professor Passow says:

"Fortunately, Americans do not consider as undemocratic the extraordinary provisions made for exceptional children who are mentally, physically, socially or emotionally handicapped. Schools have long recognized and met the need for special programs for these students. How odd, then, that many administrators fail to see that the gifted may become handicapped unless special provisions are made for them as well."

The fact, however, is that many administrators do take that view and they do it because it is politically unsound, particularly in smaller communities, to do otherwise. Educators complicate their problems with such phrases as "well-adjusted," "well-balanced," etc. Was Mozart "well-adjusted"? Was Einstein? Who knows and who cares?

Leukemia Is Betrayed By Abnormal Cells in Blood

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

A reader asks for a "complete" discussion of leukemia and whether a person can have this disease and not know it.

Of course I cannot begin to report everything that is known about leukemia in a few words; it is possible for a person to have leukemia and not know it. Leukemia is frequently discovered unexpectedly when the blood is examined.

Leukemia is a disease of unknown origin, probably involving the tissues which manufacture white blood cells. It is characterized by the appearance of immature and abnormal white blood cells in the blood stream.

Several varieties of leukemia are recognized. They are classified on the basis of the kinds of immature or abnormal cells found and whether the disease progresses rapidly or is chronic. From the patient's standpoint, the important point is usually whether leukemia is acute or chronic. The disease may start suddenly and then become chronic—but it does not always do so.

There are some reasons for believing that leukemia is becoming more common. Probably there are about 15,000 to 20,000 patients with leukemia in the United States alone, and about 5,000 newly discovered cases of the disease each year. In addition to the abnormal white blood cells, leukemia is frequently associated with enlargement of the spleen, changes in the bone marrow and anemia.

In acute varieties such treatment as is available is aimed at slowing down the course of the disease so that it will not become chronic. Sometimes this happens and sometimes not.

Diagnosis is comparatively simple. It is made by examining the blood under a microscope. The white cells are counted. Some blood is also smeared on a glass slide, stained with special dyes, and examined under the microscope for abnormal cells.

Many treatment methods are under trial. Some have particular promise. The patient may be given blood transfusions, nutritious foods, vitamins, and the like. Arsenic solutions, ACTH or cortisone, and a number of chemical agents have their place in treatment. The use of x-rays or radioactive substances of other sorts are also helpful. More and more research on leukemia is taking place. Some of it is supported by grants from the Leukemia Society of New York City (67 Wall Street).

Today one can feel fairly confident that progress in the control of leukemia will be forthcoming, though how soon a major breakthrough will be made is impossible to say.

These sums would indicate. Last January President Eisenhower's annual message urged Russia to join us in an international campaign against disease. Senator Hill's proposal would show that we intend not mere talk, but action.

London Negroes Again Attacked By White Mobs

LONDON (AP) — Race rioters rampaged through London's Notting Hill district Monday night for the third successive night.

It was early morning before police with big Alsatian dogs cleared the streets of the mob of more than 2,000 whites, most of them teen-agers.

The rioters systematically smashed windows of Negro homes. The embattled residents retaliated by hurling bottles from their roofs. One homemade gasoline bomb also was thrown down, but the fire was put out quickly.

One white man was stabbed in the shoulder. Scores of other persons had minor injuries.

57 Persons Arrested

Policemen arrested 34 persons, bringing to 57 the total arrested in London since racial disturbances broke out again Saturday night.

In the neighboring Paddington district, gangs of white youths wrecked a cafe frequented by Negroes.

Britain's racial friction stems from competition — for housing, jobs and girls—between native-born poor whites and the swelling tide of colored immigrants from the West Indies and other areas of the Commonwealth.

Nottingham Violence

Nottingham also had weekend race violence. There a mob of 1,000 whites moved on the city's colored quarter Sunday night but police patrols drove them off. Five of the rioters were sentenced to three months in prison and 19 were fined.

Home Secretary Richard A. Butler was reported satisfied that the police could handle the situation. But he ordered a special report on the riots.

A social worker in Nottingham Hill said the rampaging teen-agers "are just looking for excitement."

Producers Charge Blackmail Scheme

NEW YORK (AP) — The coproducers of the TV quiz show Twentyone have accused former contestant Herbert Stempel of trying to blackmail them.

Last week Stempel told newsmen he was given answers in advance of appearing on the program and that he was instructed to miss other questions.

The producers, Jack Barry and Dan Enright, said Monday night they had evidence in which "Stempel confesses that these same charges were baseless and untrue, and were part of a blackmail scheme Stempel had concocted in order to extort a large sum of money from the firm of Barry & Enright."

Stempel denied the blackmail accusation when asked about his Barry-Enright statement.

The producers said they had turned over the evidence to Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan.

Hogan declined to confirm that material given him by Barry & Enright contained a confession from Stempel. Stempel was questioned by investigators from Hogan's office last week.

65 Killed in Canada

TORONTO (AP) — Sixty-five persons were killed in accidents during Canada's three-day Labor Day weekend. The traffic toll was 44, last year's over-all toll was 83.

10 More Polio Cases Noted, Two Paralytic

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Ten more cases of polio, two of them paralytic, were reported last week in the 57-county area of the state outside of New York City.

They brought the total for the year to 68. This compares with 82 at the same point last year, and an average of 732 for the years 1951 through 1953—before use of Salk vaccine.

Both paralytic cases were reported from Nassau County. There were two cases also in Chautauqua County and one each in Broome, Dutchess, Erie, Oneida, Ontario, and Wayne counties.

It was early morning before police with big Alsatian dogs cleared the streets of the mob of more than 2,000 whites, most of them teen-agers.

The rioters systematically smashed windows of Negro homes. The embattled residents retaliated by hurling bottles from their roofs. One homemade gasoline bomb also was thrown down, but the fire was put out quickly.

One white man was stabbed in the shoulder. Scores of other persons had minor injuries.

57 Persons Arrested

Policemen arrested 34 persons, bringing to 57 the total arrested in London since racial disturbances broke out again Saturday night.

In the neighboring Paddington district, gangs of white youths wrecked a cafe frequented by Negroes.

Britain's racial friction stems from competition — for housing, jobs and girls—between native-born poor whites and the swelling tide of colored immigrants from the West Indies and other areas of the Commonwealth.

Nottingham Violence

Nottingham also had weekend race violence. There a mob of 1,000 whites moved on the city's colored quarter Sunday night but police patrols drove them off. Five of the rioters were sentenced to three months in prison and 19 were fined.

Home Secretary Richard A. Butler was reported satisfied that the police could handle the situation. But he ordered a special report on the riots.

A social worker in Nottingham Hill said the rampaging teen-agers "are just looking for excitement."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced moderately in fairly active trading early this afternoon. Leading issues were up from fractions to about a point.

Turnover became more brisk now that the long Labor Day weekend is out of the way and business news was favorable as a whole.

Small gains were scattered throughout the rails, steels, motors, chemicals, oils and aircrafts amidst a scattering of losses. Copper and other nonferrous metals were generally higher.

Artloom Carpet was a feature, up as much as 4 points at one phase, due to short covering.

August steel production was reported at a new monthly high for the year, manufacturers' new orders were on the rise and western railroads reported further gains. Money rates were higher.

Raytheon was up more than a point, helped by the recommendation of a Wall Street advisory service.

Youngstown Sheet, ahead more than a point, was outstanding among the steels.

Small losses were taken by U.S. Rubber, Boeing, American Cyanamid, United Air Lines and American Tobacco.

Chrysler paced the automotive group with a rise of about a point. U.S. government bonds were a shade higher.

Quotations by Morgan Davis & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 41 John Street, R. B. Osterhout, manager.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received a letter from Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, of the Hasbrouck Family Association Huguenot Historical Society, Box 473A, New Paltz. There was mention in this column about a little 20 page booklet called "Mother Goose History of Ulster County and Anniversary Songs" by Alistericus, price 10 cents. Mr. Hasbrouck would like to have a copy of this booklet for their historical library. If someone has one of the little anniversary items and would like to add it to the Huguenot Historical Society collection you can get in touch with Mr. Hasbrouck at New Paltz.

I was loaned "Uncle Remus's Home Magazine" dated February 1910 priced 10 cents. On the front cover is a pencil sketch by Herbert E. Summers of a Valentine theme. There are two stories in this magazine by Jack London and the illustrations are from photos taken by the author. One story is called "The House of the Sun." He writes "Haleakala is the Hawaiian name for 'the house of the sun.' It is a noble dwelling situated on the island of Maui; but so few tourists have ever peeped into it, much less entered it, that their number may be practically reckoned as zero." It seems to be a mountain above the clouds and only Jack London can describe it, so using his words: "Now Haleakala is so bulky and tall that it turns the northeast trade-wind aside on either hand, so that in the lee of Haleakala no trade-wind blows at all. On the contrary, the wind blows in counter direction in the teeth of the northeast trade. The wind is called Naulu. Day and night Ukiukiu and Naulu strive with each other, advancing, retreating, flanking, curving, curling, turning and twisting, the conflict made visible by cloud masses."

Jack London was born in 1876 and died in 1916. He was an American novelist. He wrote, "The Call of the Wild," "White Fang" (dog stories) "Martin Eden" and "The Sea Wolf" and many magazine articles and stories. One of his photographs showing two riders and pack horses is captioned: "One pack-horse carried 20 gallons of water, swung in five gallon bags, on either side." The road is rocky and unused. In fact it does not look like a road. Another photo shows a heart shaped horse-high stone wall under which it says: "We had a lunch of jerked beef and hard 'pol' in a stone corral." He ends that story with "Never was there such a ride. For two days it lasted, when we emerged into rolling country, and along an

Glancing Over
TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Fortunately this department does not specialize in advice to readers—or we'd have been out of business long ago.

Last week we dropped the fat in the fire by suggesting to an eight-year-old girl who wanted to look at westerns instead of the ball games that she ask her father to buy another TV set. Good-humored letters from parents say this positively was not sage advice.

The best letter comes from a friend of many years, Alfred W. Klaber of San Mateo, Calif., who writes:

"My wife and I are sure you are anything but subversive in your intent, and yet I cannot read your advice to that little girl, as published in the San Mateo Times, without calling to you attention a possible serious by-product from the publication of such a thought as yours."

"About the time that our two children were aged six and nine we became conscious of various shrill rumblings. No, it wasn't the ball game versus the western; it would be 'Fireman Frank' versus 'The Big Top.' Heads didn't roll, but they got smashed."

"After a rugged day at the office, it wasn't easy to come home and be called on to arbitrate a question of whether one western was the equivalent of two cartoon shows. Solomon in all his wisdom had an easier time with his multitude of wives."

"Finally giving in to what appeared to be inevitable, we jumped from the frying pan into the fire by purchasing a second TV set. We made one mistake. The second set had a smaller screen than the first."

"Now what do we have? Double service calls, conflicting loudspeakers, and more particularly the argument over who gets to watch the big set versus the little. It seems that Channel 7 comes in better on the large set and Channel 5 better on the small. The net result is that we're on the treadmill: Twice the aggravation, twice the expense—and the argument still persists."

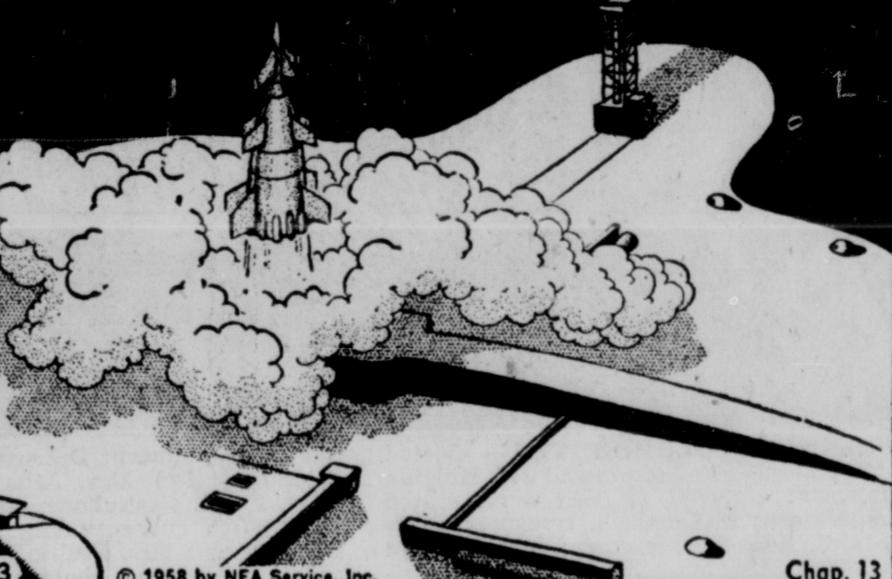

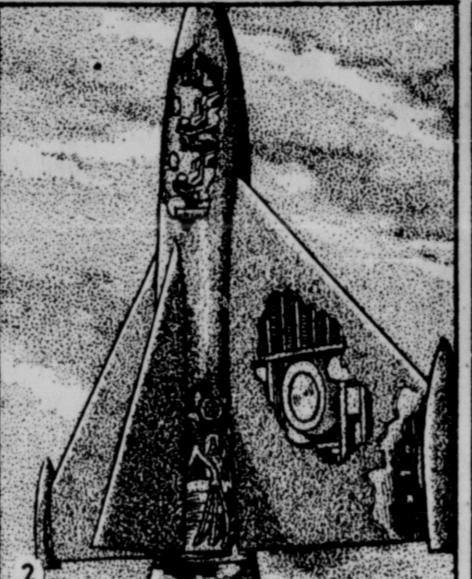

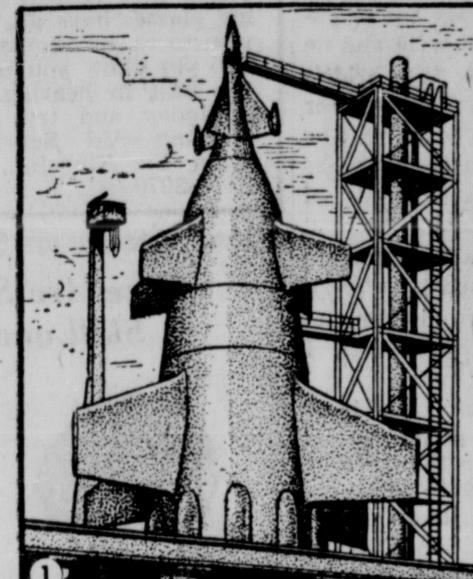

"Besides, how do I get to look at the ball game? I don't think you thought through your answer. May I respectfully suggest that before you write on a subject as controversial as this again, you do a little field research among the experienced in such matters."

"For myself, I now spend the evening playing the organ in order to drown out both sets at once, while my wife, in self defense, has joined the local knitting society."

Old Age Checkout

PENITCTON, B. C. (AP)—The B. C. Old Age Pensioners' Assn. voted to ask the federal government to end the "unjust discrimination" which does not permit pensioners to collect their checks while outside Canada. The annual convention asked that checks be forwarded.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (13)—Man Into Space

The date could be in the 1960s. For years now, unmanned satellites of varying sizes and types have been circling the Earth. Instrument rockets to and around the Moon no longer make headlines. Improved rocket planes like the X-15 have pushed farther into the fringes of space, achieving near orbital flight. By this time, a man in the nose cone of a missile has possibly been shot into space for a few minutes and landed safely.

Now, at last, the stage is set for the first manned satellite to be launched.

(1) It will probably be a three-stage vehicle, towering some 20 stories in height. Artist's conception above is based upon state of present-day fuels and technical knowledge.

(2) This two-man third stage is essentially a high performance rocket plane, capable of both atmospheric and space flight. Its wings have outer layers of heat-resistant material and inner layers of insulation and refrigerant fluid. Their large area will provide lift in rarefied atmosphere when craft returns to Earth and help dissipate heat caused by friction. Rockets at wing tips swivel 360 degrees. They will be used to correct plane's direction in airless space, for slowing down when craft is ready to drop out of orbit and for acceleration, if necessary, upon landing. Small compressed air or rocket nozzles in nose, wings and rudder will also be used for minor corrections in direction.

(3) Throughout the day and early evening dozens of ground crew personnel have labored to ready the ship. Finally all fuel tanks have been topped off. Each of the hundreds of instruments and parts has been tested and retested. All items check out. The countdown reaches 10 . . . 5 . . . 4 . . . 3 . . . 2 . . . 1. The first-stage motors thunder and a great blaze lights up the launching area as the first rocket to carry men on a sustained flight into space begins its journey.

Next: Men in Orbit.

Happy Times

By MARIE DAER

Don't let anybody tell you it's easy to get a job in these times.

And make that double—or triple—if you are an "older" worker.

But if you ARE on the job hunt, why not take advantage of some of the tips that may mean the difference between disappointment and a "How about starting Monday?" answer.

SIGN UP with employment agencies—public and private—particularly any which do a good job of placing mature workers. But don't depend on somebody else to find you a job. Hunt on your own.

WATCH NEWSPAPERS for announcements of new plants, branch banks, stores and other business projects in your own town. Write letters to the managers or personnel directors. Follow up each letter with a telephone call, asking for an appointment. Your letters should include your address and telephone number, education and job experience. The latter can be paid or volunteer jobs.

ASK FRIENDS if they know of openings. Sometimes an activity in which you join may turn up a job. A 75-year-old woman who entered a dress she had made in a golden-age hobby show was offered a part-time job. She now teaches expectant mothers how to make layettes. Remember, the more "feelers" you put out, the more likely you are to find a job.

BE FIVE MINUTES EARLY for your interview appointment. Be relaxed, but businesslike. Don't apologize for your age. Impress on the personnel manager that you are particularly interested in this job and that you believe you are the right person for it.

BE WELL-GROOMED. Good If you are a woman, wear a grooming counts in an interview. suit or dress in which you feel comfortable, but that is neither fancy nor casual. Wear hat and gloves. Be sure hair is neat and make-up is carefully applied. Watch such details as stocking seams. If you are a man, be sure your suit is pressed, your shoes are shined and your necktie is spotless.

CONSIDER RETRAINING. A hotel training course or lessons in running a power sewing machine may be the Open Sesame to a job.

DON'T UNDERSELL YOURSELF. If you have worked before, you have experience that a younger worker can't offer. And, also in your favor, employers have discovered that when they hire an older worker, they get stability, loyalty, concentration and a fine attendance record.

Q—What determines the amount of death benefit that is paid on the death of a worker insured under Social Security?—L. B. W.

A—The benefit depends on the average earnings of the insured person. Lump sum ranges from $90 to $255.

Q—Must you have lived in a state a certain number of years to get old-age assistance?—J. F. R.

A—Most states have a residence requirement, but the requirement varies.

He Strikes Again

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—The State Highway Patrol dressed up a dummy as a patrolman, put it in a patrol car by the side of a road and placed a false speed detector across the highway. When two patrolmen returned to the car later they found a note on the windshield. It read: "All cops are dummies like this one." It was signed: "The phantom."

Navy Beans vs. Borscht

By FRANK TRIPP

If I go to jail for writing this, send me a postcard. I stole it from a personal letter written to another fellow. Both are newspaper big shots.

The brass who wrote it is editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers. He wrote from Russia. A reader snapped him up for sitting pretty in a fat job and comparing the miserable plight of the average Russian with American luxury.

For a week we lived on those beans and milk, and could buy some meat to put in our soup.

It was not even an unpleasant experience. Mr. Coolidge was not running any relief stations, and if he had been I don't think we would have applied. It was easier to live on beans and milk we could steal.

(Anyway, folks, this mail-pilfering chronicler never stole milk from the United States Supreme Court.)

Prisma Sponsored KHS Student Will Return Thursday; Summer Spent in Ludlow, England

Miss Penny Johnson, senior at Kingston High School, will have a great deal to talk about when she arrives in New York aboard the Johann van Oldenbarneveld from England on Thursday.

Sponsored jointly by Prisma of Kingston High School and the American Field Service, Miss Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Johnson, 19 Green Street, left on June 23 for Ludlow in Shropshire, (often referred to as the west country near Wales) England. She was one of 23 students who disembarked at Southampton and from there, she and another American student, Barbara Lilenthal of Long Beach, Calif., made their way to Ludlow.

Host and hostess for their American visitors were Commander and Mrs. A. M. Pilling, who have three children, two girls and a boy. One of the daughters, Jessica, is Penny's age. The oldest girl is Joanna, the youngest Pilling is John, 13.

Attends School

While at Ludlow, Miss Johnson attended the local high school and in her letters home wrote, "it was quite a different experience."

Miss Johnson also attended a performance of "Romeo and Juliet" at Stratford-on-Avon, and saw the Royal Ballet in London.

The Pillings, whose eldest daughter was an exchange student to California a year ago, are very enthusiastic about the American Field Service. Their interest is so great, that they entertained not one student, but two during the summer.

Pilling Writes Here

In one of several letters to Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, illustrating his deep concern and interest, Commander Pilling wrote, "What have we accomplished—have we furthered the understanding between some Americans and some English, or have I given these children too much of our tradition and not enough of the things in which youngsters are interested?"

Mrs. Pilling wrote in a letter to Mrs. Johnson after both Miss Johnson and Miss Lilenthal were put on the train to London, "I have lost my two American daughters."

Miss Johnson spent six days in London prior to sailing with a group of 22 American exchange students to Rotterdam where they joined more than 200 more students for the trip back to America.

Speaking about Prisma, which has its annual fund drive in October, Penny's mother, Mrs. Johnson told The Freeman, "it's the sort of experience that anyone could envy and would not be possible were it not for the American Field Service, the Americans Abroad Program and our own Prisma Society at Kingston High School."

Community Theatre to Feature Fall Fashions Show; Will Include Gowns Bridal Outfits

As an added attraction, the Community Theatre will feature a fashion show on stage with local area models.

The event will take place on Thursday at 9 p. m.

The very latest in gowns, party dresses and bridal outfits will be shown through the courtesy of the Bridal Centre Salon, 55 Albany Avenue, under the direction of its bridal consultant, Connie Ciccone.

"This is the first time we have ever tried this," Michael Dorso, theatre manager, told The Freeman, "but we feel certain that the community will like it."

A beautiful gown or party dress will be awarded to some lady in the audience on that night.

On the screen will be "The Reluctant Debuteante" starring Rex Harrison, Kay Kendall and Angela Lansbury.

MAKING HER PREFERENCE KNOWN

Dear Mrs. Post: My son is going to be married shortly and he has told me that the bride's mother is ordering a corsage for me to wear at the wedding. She hasn't called to ask me what kind of flowers I would like and I'm very much afraid she will send something that will not go with my dress. Would it be proper to call the bride's mother and tell her what color flowers I would like?

Answer: Why don't you have your son ask his fiance to explain to her mother the color of the flowers you would like.

Gentlemen Rise

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper behavior of the men at the table when, during the course of the evening in a restaurant, one, or perhaps, two of the ladies leave to go to the powder room? Should the men get up—all of the men at the table—and does this same procedure take place when the women return to the table?

Answer: Yes. The only advice is that the ladies try to leave and sit down again so quickly that the men have no chance to do more than make a gesture to rise. At a large table, only the one she was talking with would rise. Others would not notice.

Where Do They Sit?

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister's daughter is marrying my husband's brother at a large church wedding. Our problem is on which side of the church do we sit—the bride's side or the groom's? Will you please advise us?

Answer: You of course have a right to sit on either side, but there will be a better chance of not hurting anyone's feelings if you sit on the side with the fewest number of relatives, and explain the reason for your choice.

Dr. Jones or John?

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a woman whose husband is a dentist to speak of him as Dr. Jones to friends?

Answer: No, she speaks of him as John just as any other married woman speaks of her husband.

Every letter should be written with care and on the proper stationery. To improve your letters both in appearance and in wording, you will find Mrs. Post's booklet No. 502, "Letters Writing," helpful. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

DEATH OF AN EXPLORER

Meriwether Lewis, a leader of the first white exploratory expedition to cross what is now the United States, met death in 1809 at Grinder's Inn on the Natchez Trace in Tennessee. At the time, he was Governor of the Louisiana Territory. His death, which has remained an unsolved mystery, occurred while he was en route to the nation's capital. Governor Lewis is buried close to Hohenwald, Tennessee, near the site of the tavern, and a museum has been constructed nearby.

He was more surprised when the father agreed to hold the ladder while he went up and brought down the girl. When the girl was safely on the ground, the young man turned to the father and said,

Young man—It was awfully nice of you to help us, but I can't understand it. You don't know me, so how could you be sure you can trust me?

Father—I'm not. That's why I'm holding on to this ladder!

Rescued After Clinging
13 Hours to Sailboat

MAYFIELD, N. Y. (AP) — A young couple was hauled to safety from choppy Sacandaga Reservoir Monday after clinging 13 hours to their overturned sailboat.

Edward Kruszonka, 31, of Rotterdam, and Anne Tariello, 32, of Niskayuna, were treated for shock and exposure.

A gust of wind toppled the 19-foot craft about 8 p. m. Sunday. Despite raw winds and waves, the two rode the hull until Edmund Rocker of Johnstown sighted them.

Lovely Is Caught
After Wild Chase

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — "I was out joyriding," 20-year-old Raymond Lovely told police when they caught him after a wild chase at speeds up to 110 miles an hour. Seven persons were hurt and six vehicles wrecked.

Lovely, uninjured, pleaded innocent to charges of speeding, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving and driving without a license.

Police said Lovely headed toward Albany Monday in his father's station wagon. He didn't quite make it.

In suburban Colonie, police said Lovely's vehicle struck a car driven by Sadie Pirro, 24, of Buffalo. She suffered a back injury. Colonial police radioed ahead to Albany police.

Lovely narrowly missed an Albany patrol car and a motorcycle trying to head him off. Then, police said, Lovely plowed into three automobiles at a busy intersection.

Six persons were injured, including three riding with Lovely.

"I didn't want to get caught. I don't have a driver's license," police quoted Lovely as saying.

Power Plant May Reduce Bills in North New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The St. Lawrence power project may save municipalities and rural cooperatives in northern New York and Vermont as much as 25 per cent on their electricity bills, the State Power Authority says.

A statement by the authority Monday night said its chairman, Robert Moses, has told all municipalities in the St. Lawrence project market area that:

"Since the villages will be buying power from the authority at lower cost than they have been producing it or purchasing it from other sources. They are bound to save money. We expect them to reduce their rates to the extent made possible as a result of this saving. We shall therefore expect that initially the new rates will reflect at least the amount of the saving."

The same policy, the authority said, will apply to utilities that purchase power from the authority.

Power from the project will be marketed through municipal and rural cooperative distribution systems, and the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. and the New York State Electric & Gas Corp.

The project's power will go to about 600,000 rural and domestic consumers within a marketing area of 150 miles from the project.

"Fireball" Cops Stock Car Race

DARLINGTON, S. C. (AP) — Glen (Fireball) Roberts breathed a $1,430 sigh of relief today over the traps he escaped by winning the ninth Southern 500 stock car race at a record 102.59 m.p.h.

The Daytona Beach, Fla., speedster finished five laps ahead of the field before a record crowd of more than 80,000.

"I almost bought it a couple of times," he said of narrow escapes when he slipped his Chevrolet between other cars and the rail at 130 miles an hour.

"I missed the wall in front of the grandstand by bumping away from it once. And I thought I was going to run by outside wheel up on a piece of busted rail (left by drivers whose cars went over and out)," he said.

He picked up the lion's share of the $60,000 purse, including $1,960 in lap money. He led more than half the race after the Ford duo of Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va., winner in 1956, and Joe Weatherly of Norfolk, Va., were forced out with valve lift trouble in their cars.

Finishing behind Roberts in second place was Buck Baker of Spartanburg, S. C., in another Chevrolet. Shorty Rollins of Corpus Christi, Tex., was third in a Ford.

Catholic Bowling Association's 16-team league will open its 20th season of activity Wednesday, Sept. 10 with teams recruited from Kingston and the outlying areas. Matches are scheduled every Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Gains His Fourth Village Crown

Bill Van Aken regained the Woodstock Country Club golf title Sunday, upending defending champion Bill Waterous, 8 and 6, in the 36-hole finals.

Moving into the championship role he played in 1954-55, Van Aken wielded a blazing putter in the afternoon round after carving out a 3 up lead over the first 18 holes to register one of the most decisive victories in recent years.

The victory gave Van Aken his eleventh major title, more than any other area linksmen. He now has four Woodstock, two Kingston city, three Herdewyck crowns to his credit over a brilliant career that started in 1948.

Opens With 69

Van Aken posted nines of 36-33 for a 69 to Waterous' 38-32. He fashioned a 34 on the third nine where Waterous had 38 and closed out the match with a 6-foot birdie-3 on the par-four 30th hole. He fired six birdies, three bogies and 21 pars, leaving him 3-under par for the 30 holes.

The new champion went 1 up on the fourth hole and held the margin until the 14th where Waterous canned a footer for a birdie-4. Waterous bogied the 15th after nearly driving the par 4, then rammed home a 20-foot birdie-3 on the 16th to go 3 up. They halved the last two holes, leaving Van Aken 3 up at the luncheon break.

Waterous took the second hole on the afternoon round, but Van Aken canned beautiful birdie putts on the 4th, sixth and seventh holes for a 6 up lead.

They traded the last two holes of the third nine to Van Aken a six hole margin with nine left to play.

Tremendous Tee Shot

Disaster struck swiftly for Waterous on the last nine. His tee shot crashed into a tree and he needed three to reach the green. Van Aken split the middle with a booming drive, was safely on in two and two putted for his par 4 to leave Waterous dormie-7.

After halving the second hole (29th), Van Aken unloaded one of the most tremendous tee shots of the season at Woodstock. The ball travelled approximately 290 yards. Waterous hit the rough on the left with his tee shot and was unable to get on in two. Van Aken planted a wedge shot six feet from the pin and ran it down for the birdie-3 to cinch the match.

Beacon Braves, Dutchmen in 3rd Place Deadlock

The Saugerties Dutchmen gave it that old college try for a double victory over the weekend in the New York-New Jersey League but the Jersey City Colored Cardinals gained a first place tie with the Nyack Welders with its 3-2 win over the Dutchmen Saturday night in Jersey City. The Dutchmen's 13-inning 5-4 win over Poughkeepsie yesterday at Cantine Field was incidental since they had to win the Saturday fray to stay in the running.

Instead they settled for a third place tie with the Beacon Braves who got an assist from the Kingston Yankees on Saturday when the locals were unable to field a day and were forced to forfeit, although they won a seven-inning tilt, 4-3 on some stout-hearted pitching by Bob Miller.

The forfeit was a bitter pill for franchise owner Fred Davis to swallow. It can't be remembered the last time a Davis-managed team failed to put a full squad on the field. They were close to that point several times during the season, but they managed to come through with a full team at the last minute. But the turn of events at the season's finale, saddened a trying season for the Yanks and Davis under the new banner.

Homer Ties

Sam Mason broke up a 2-2 deadlock in the ninth frame for the JC Cardinals with a solid single to left off Clark Mains to give the Garden Staters its victory. The Dutchmen had taken a 2-1 lead in the second when Boo Schaffer scored Bruce Brice and Oney Whitaker with a hit to left center.

But Freddy Williams tied it in the eighth with a home run over the left field fence. The tying and winning runs came after Mains had managed to get the first two batters.

Mains was nickel for 10 blows. He fanned eight and walked three, while Hank Edwards had 10 strikeouts and was touched for eight safeties, three of them by Bill Straub.

Error Fatal

The Dutchmen won in the 13th on an error by second baseman Joe Gale. After Ed Yasinski had retired the first two batters, Bill Mustion singled to left and Jim Mackey walked. But when Gale let Barry Brice's roller go through, Mustion came around with the winning run.

Although the Yanks forfeited to the Braves, it was one of its better games. Tom Carlino, an ineligible, but well known in Kingston baseball circle, played an important role in the Yanks three-run fourth inning. He drove home one of the runs with a booming 400 foot triple in deep center field scoring Sal Ciaccio.

Randall Sweeps Wiltwyck and City Golf Championships

Routs Bostic, 8-7, In Club Finals; Tops Alvin Boice By Same Margin

Two tremendous opening surges swept Leon Randall to decisive triumphs over Harvey Bostic in the Wiltwyck Country Club finals and Alvin Boice in the inter-club city playoff over the Labor Day weekend.

Randall overwhelmed Bostic 8 and 7 in the 36-hole Wiltwyck finals Saturday, shooting par golf for 29 holes. He bounced back Labor Day to rout Alvin Boice of The Twaalfskill, by the same margin.

The weekend sweep enabled Randall to achieve his fourth Wiltwyck crown and his second straight city match game bauble. He now is tied with Boice with three city titles.

In each match, Randall got off to a flying start that threatened to overwhelm his opponents by record breaking margins. He opened 4-4-4-4 to Bostic's 5-5-5, to rack up the first four holes in the Wiltwyck finals.

Against Boice, the smooth swinging Wiltwyck veteran fired four birdies, a par and bogie to sweep the first 6 holes from Boice. He holed out five one-putt greens during that torrid stretch, including a 45-foot birdie on the first hole. He was dead to the pin with a 1-footer on the second hole, ran down a 5-footer on the 4th hole and canned a 10-foot birdie on the sixth.

Lead by Five Holes

Randall led Boice 4 up at the end of 9, dropped the 10th at Wiltwyck with a bogie-5, then took the 12th, 13th and 14th as Boice fluffed approach shots on each hole. Boice took the 15th hole when Randall's tee shot strayed into the rough. They halved the last three holes, sending Randall to Twaalfskill for the afternoon round with a 5-hole lead.

Any doubt of Randall's inviolability was removed on Twaalfskill's first four holes in the afternoon round. Boice reeled off 3-2-4-2, including an eagle-2 on the fourth hole, was 3-under par for the four holes yet picked up only one hole on Randall, who fired 3-5-3-3.

Randall birdied the long par-five 5th and 7th holes from 1 foot and 20 feet to move 7 up, the widest margin of the match. They halved the 8th and 9th holes with par 4s. Each had posted a two-under-par 33 but Boice showed a net loss of two holes.

Last Reprieve

Boice rimmed the cup from 8 feet on the 28th hole for a possible reprieve but the end came quickly on the par-three 29th hole. Randall planted his tee shot safely to the left of the green, while Boice topped his drive, was on in two six feet from the pin but was unable to can the putt.

Randall put together a 76 with 37-39 and Boice had 41-40-81 at Wiltwyck.

In the Wiltwyck finals, Bostic averted an early rout by rallying to take the 5th, 8th and 9th, where Randall had his only bad hole of the match with a 7. They halved the next seven holes before two booming shots put Randall in position for a birdie-4 on the 17th hole to lead 2 up in the morning round.

Randall birdied the first hole in the afternoon round, then took four of the last five holes for a 6 up lead at the end of 27 holes as Bostic's putting miseries were compounded from hole to hole. Randall nailed down the victory with a birdie on the 28th hole and a par 3 on the 29th as Bostic needed 4-4.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By hal sharp

LANDING NET TIPS

If an over-active, large fish threatens to flop out of a landing net, turn net's loop to vertical—it "closes" the top of the net so fish can't escape.

Rinse the fish slime from a net in running water after a day's usage to avoid deterioration of netting.

Nylon nets resist mildew, rotting, et cetera, thus outlasting the linen nets.

Add clinch-on sinkers to a net to sink bag quickly.

Hurricane Ella Hits Cuba Today

MIAAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Ella whistled up the center of Cuba today, about 350 miles south southeast of Miami. Winds of 60 miles an hour were forecast for the Florida Straits.

Flash flooding was expected in central and western Cuba as Ella extended its gale force winds outward 150 miles to the north and 50 miles to the south.

Gale warnings were in effect from Palm Beach, and Fort Myers, Fla., southward to the Florida Keys and Florida Straits.

Reports from Cuba indicated Ella broke up some while passing through the mountainous sections of eastern Cuba.

This is the region where rebel Fidel Castro and his men have been fighting the Cuban government.

The hurricane, the season's third, was moving toward the west-northeast at 16 m.p.h.

The hurricane was about 50 miles west of Camaguey, Cuba, and 300 miles southeast of Key West.

High Winds DamageWhiteface Chair Lift

WILMINGTON, N. Y. (AP)—Tourists won't be using the chair lift up Whiteface Mountain for at least a week.

High winds slashing across the Adirondack Mountain Sunday night knocked over a tree that crashed against a lift tower.

A short-circuit developed in a powerline. The 150-horsepower motor went into operation at a speed so slow the motor burned out.

More than 1,000 tourists a day use the 6,220-foot lift on Whiteface. In winter the lift is loaded with skiers.

Caballeros New Champs

CHICAGO (AP)—The Caballeros of Hawthorne, N. J., are the new champion senior drum and bugle corps of the American Legion.

The New Jersey unit won the 1958 title Sunday night before a crowd of 50,000 at Soldiers Field.

New York units ranked among the top 10 were the Brigadiers, Post 1677, Syracuse, second place; the Apple Knockers, Post 396, Geneva, sixth place, and the Grey Knights, Post 952, Rochester, eighth.
